JUDGE GEORGE CLARK.

Of late years Judge George Clark of Waco has largely dropped from public notice, caused by his declining years. Twenty years ago his name was a household word in Texas, and while he never sought the public ear in politics as did James Stephen Hogg, Joe Sayers, John Reagan, the elder Culbertson and other great commoners, still he was a great commoner of state, and all friends of the people had the profoundest respect for his superb attainments and ability. The following tribute to his ability, in his old age, recently published in the Waco Tribune, will be read by all who are interested in the anniversary given at the Waco Tribune.

opportunity to refer to a citizen of Waco who has been eminently valuable to city and state. In 1896, twenty-one years ago, George Clark was here as he is today. He was in the zenith of his career as a truly great lawyer. He had sat as a justice of the highest court of the state. He had achieved prestige in public life, for he and Waller Baker had just reunited the warring factions of Texas democracy. He had, as a lawyer, made the profession even more honorable. As a private citizen he had been loyal and generous to this city, when he came as a young man, from four years of bravest service under Lee. Now, twenty years older in the calm evening of life, rich in experience and sound judgment, with a career that is full of honor and usefulness, George Clark is still with us, honored and beloved by those with whom he had dwelt in measure that rarely comes to men. Great lawyer, even greater and learned judge, useful and patriotic citizen, loyal friend and with a heart as tender as a woman's. That is George Clark. We are sure that in this tendering to him, out of so many well worthy of honor and love, to voice community sentiment, we utter words that will find cordial echo in the hearts of all who know him.

The British and German fleets have met on the high seas and in the naval engagement that followed the losses to both sides were heavy. England's loss was far greater, considering the net results of the one battle, but considering the largely superior navy of England to that of Germany, the blow to Germany is equally as severe as to Great Britain. This battle is only another step in the causes that will bring the war to a close—the exhaustion of the warring nations in men and resources.

It has been suggested, if in fact there is any question about the election of Judge Poindexter as national committeeman by the state democratic convention, that the matter be submitted to the voters in the July primary. The proposition is certainly fair and neither Judge Poindexter or Tom Love could object to submitting the matter for settlement to the people.

Unusual, in fact phenomenally cold weather prevails over Russia. Is it possible the czar has cold feet?

Col. R. M. Johnston, editor-in-chief of the Houston Post, has yielded to numerous signed petitions and consented to enter the race for the state senate. Colonel Johnston's long years of service to the democratic party entitle him to any honor he could ask at the hands of the democracy of the state and he will no doubt be elected by a large majority.

Another new business building is announced for Bryan. This new structure is to be three stories and basement and equipped with modern elevator service. Bryan is not experiencing any boom at all, but the wheels of progress are turning and the city's growth is sure and steady.

A week's time will be taken by the officials at Washington to consider Carranza's insulting note and to leisurely frame a reply. In the meantime Mr. Carranza can patiently nurse his grievance, or start something, whichever suits his pleasure.

Mobile felt an earthquake shock Friday. It was perhaps only the reverberation of the first roar of the lion of Sagamore Hill, as he arose, shook his mane and scented the coming of the Chicago convention.

A company has been organized in Houston with a capital of $400,000 to raise cattle on a large scale. The company will operate in Harris, Fort Bend and Brazoria counties.

We hear more talk of roasting ears. Uncle John Coulter and Hugo Jahn have both had messes. Surely they'll be coming our way soon. Again let us join in singing the "Glory Song."

The state's cash balance to the credit of the several funds on May 31 was $5,973,669. Quite a nice little bunch of coin for the salary grabbers and tax eaters. Poor old Jones!

Now another rain during the coming week and the country's safe.

GOOD SATURDAY CROWD.

The several days of good weather we have had is given as the reason for a large crowd in the city today. The working people were here from all parts of the county and every merchant in the city reports a good business.
